Blastoff to Mars Is Set for Today

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States prepared today to launch Mariner 3, a robot explorer, on an intended 8½-month journey to Mars to take pictures and collect scientific data.

A powerful 10-story-tall Atlas-Agena D rocket was set to blast off between 1:22 p.m. and 3:17 p.m. to start the complex payload across 350 million miles of space for a brief encounter with the planet next July 17.

If successful, the unmanned U.S. spacecraft will sweep within 8,600 miles of Mars and provide the first closeup information ever obtained about the planet. Many astronomers believe Mars harbors a basic form of life, such as vegetation.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Mariner 3 will not be able to detect life but is to gather information needed to design life-seeking capsules which the United States hopes to land on Mars in 1969.

Because Mars is in a favorable position for a launching from earth only one month out of each 25 and because of the importance of collecting information about the planet for future shots, the space agency scheduled two identical payloads for firing in the present November favorable period.

Mariner 4 is being readied on an adjoining launch pad. Its firing date, possibly as early as next week, will be determined after analysis of early results from Mariner 3.

Mariner project manager Jack N. James of NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said there was a better than 50 per cent chance of obtaining significant data about Mars with the twin shots.

James said that the 138,000 parts in each Mariner would have to function for nine months in space; the craft must obey radio commands sent to them from earth stations, millions of miles away; and must be able to transmit photographs and scientific information from 150 million miles in space.

Key information sought is the density of the Martian atmosphere. Mariner 3 is supposed to collect it during a swift 60-second penetration of that atmosphere before skimming past the planet into orbit about the sun.

Mariner 3's television camera was designed to snap 22 pictures during a 30-minute period of near encounter. The spacecraft is equipped with magnetic tape to store the pictures to be transmitted to earth one or two times each during a 10 to 20-day period after the vehicle has passed Mars. Because of the extreme communication distance, nearly nine hours would be required to transmit one picture.

Kansas City New Orleans Road Pushed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A move to get a nintestrate highway constructed between Kansas City and New Orleans got a big boost Wednesday when some 160 persons from Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri met here to discuss the project.

Edward M. Penick, president of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, was named chairman of a tri-state committee which will coordinate efforts of committees in each state. Penick also was named chairman of the Arkansas committee.

The Louisiana group selected Dudley Coates of Baton Rouge as its chairman and Kenneth Krakauer of Kansas City was named chairman of the Missouri Committee.

The group is pushing for an extension of Interstate 29 which runs from North Dakota to Kansas City. It contends that a void now exists in the present interstate highway system between the midwest and New Orleans and the extension would fill that void by funneling traffic between the northwest - midwest and the Gulf Coast areas.

2 Senate Brothers — the Name Is Kennedy, Sir — Swap Jokes in Hospital

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
BOSTON (AP) — For two hours the U.S. Senate's first brothers team in 161 years swapped quips and digs at a hospital bedside.

It was the day after election, and U.S. Sen-elect Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., hustled to New England Baptist Hospital Wednesday to exchange congratulations with his younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Bobby emphasized he was only visiting Boston, a joking reference to campaign charges he was a carpetbagger in New York.

Ted, who scored a lopsided election victory for a six-year term in the Senate, kidded Bobby about his smaller margin in the New York election.

Their meeting was loud and full of laughs. Bobby brought along his wife, Ethel, and Ted's wife, Joan, completed the quartet.

Reporters waiting outside the room had trouble distinguishing which brother was talking. One newspaperman explained, "They both sound so much the same, it's impossible to tell."

He added, wistfully, that both sound just like their older brother, the late President John F. Kennedy. Ted now holds the Senate post once occupied by his older brother John.

Romney Is New Power in GOP

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney emerged today as the strong man at the ballot box of a Republican party shattered by President Johnson's towering presidential election victory.

In the almost incredible vote avalanche in which Johnson registered strongly in nearly every precinct outside five Southern states and Arizona, Romney won re-election by cutting deep into Democratic Detroit, upping his previous (support in Negro districts and winning 40 per cent backing from those who voted for the Democratic President.

Defeated GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater has said he does not intend to yield the reins of the Republican party. But he conceded that he thinks the GOP will pick "another man to run" in 1968 "and as of now that would be fine with me."

It would require considerable reorientation for Goldwater to gravitate to the support of Romney for this somewhat political dubious honor four years hence. The Arizona senator said during the campaign he could understand why some "moderate" Republicans didn't support him. But he listed Romney as an unfathomable "Mormon preacher."

Romney, who wouldn't back Goldwater actively because of the latter's vote against the Civil Rights Act, already was on the offensive. His state's GOP national committeeman, John Martin, called for the dumping of Goldwater's personally selected chairman of the Republican National Committee, Dean Burch.

Burch, clinging to his $30,000-a-year job, found some "encouraging" signs in a debacle in which Goldwater won six states and 48 electoral votes to Johnson's 486 electoral College ballots.

The GOP national chairman said the election had established a "true two-party system in the South" — which the Democrats debated hotly; had won more than 26 million voters to "the conservative philosophy" and had ended the campaign "fiscally sound and strong."

Johnson, with more than 41 million votes from 98 per cent of the nation's polling places, was playing the part of the magnanimous winner. He had rolled up a huge 61.4 per cent of the total vote.

At his ranch near Johnson City, Tex., the President and his wife welcomed Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the vice president-elect and his wife for a brief visit before the Humphreys set off on a vacation to the Virgin Islands.

Johnson's observation on the election results was: "I doubt (Continued on Page Three)

Election Politics

Michigan Gov. George Romney emerges as a vote-getting strong man for a Republican party shattered by President Johnson's election landslide.

One of President Johnson's first moves in foreign policy may be to send a high-level representative, perhaps Hubert Humphrey, to Europe to talk with Allied leaders.

Widening Democratic margin in Congress could brighten chances for two key Johnson administration proposals: health care for the elderly and Appalachia aid.

Republicans find some solace in the 25 governorship races; they have a net gain of one.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, determined to keep the Republicans on a conservative course, plans to spend a lot of time working to strengthen party.

President and vice president-elect hit it off in fine style as they celebrate the election victory.

Victorious Gov. George Romney faces a Michigan challenge that could make or break his political future.

Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy kids New York Sen. elect Robert F. Kennedy about being outtrunked in the Senate by a younger brother.

Fighting continues after the overthrow of Bolivian President Victor Paz Estenssoro. Red China's Premier Chou En-lai to talk peace with new Soviet leaders in Moscow.

President in New Role on Vote Verdict

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — A wholly new President Johnson — new to himself and everyone else, here and abroad — will have to develop now that he has been elected to the White House on his own for a full four years.

This is in handling foreign affairs, a field where his experience has been very limited until now. It's a reasonable guess he will try to perform here as he did on the American political scene so long.

It can be simply stated: try to get all you want but compromise if necessary to make some progress.

As vice president, he was never more than a shadow, a good-will ambassador, of President John F. Kennedy who ran foreign affairs with a strong hand of his own.

After he became President, and until now, Johnson made no overseas trips. For one thing, there was no vice president if anything happened to him.

For another, he apparently felt he had a fulltime job establishing himself at home and trying to get his programs through Congress. He did so well it was his success here that laid the base for his presidential campaign.

As President he had foreign problems to deal with, but from within the White House, and never as a first-hand participant in solving them on the scene, as might be done through conference.

Russia Calls for Unity in Red Nations

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin appealed today for an end to "nationalist narrowmindedness and discrimination" in world Communist ranks as Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and other foreign Communist chiefs converged on Moscow for talks with the Soviet Union.

The appeal published in Pravda, the organ of the Soviet Communist party, was clearly intended to serve as the keynote for the first big gathering on Communist rulers since Nikita Khrushchev's downfall last month.

"The Communist party of the Soviet Union calls for an implacable struggle against the appearance and survival of any kind of nationalism and chauvinism and against tendencies toward national narrowmindedness and discrimination," Pravda's editorial said.

In their bitter feud with the Chinese during Khrushchev's time, the Soviets accused the Chinese of fomenting a schism in the Communist world with nationalist, chauvinist policies. The charge has been indirectly aimed at some East European Communists, most notably the Romanians.

The Chinese premier headed a seven-man delegation to the celebration Saturday commemorating the 47th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

It will be the first high-level meeting between the Soviet and Chinese Communists since peace talks between the two parties broke down in Moscow in July 1963. After that the conflict between the two nations sharpened and split the world Communist movement.

The removal of Khrushchev had raised the possibility of a surface reconciliation. The former Soviet leader was a personal target for much of Peking's bitterness.

Chou was accompanied by Vice Premier Ho Lung, a member of the Chinese party's policy-making Politburo; Kang Sheng, an alternate member of A weather pattern supposed to bring rain to Arkansas today stalled west of the state and the U.S. Weather Bureau now predicts little or no moisture through Friday.

Occasional rain may affect about 50 per cent of the extreme west portion of Arkansas tonight and Friday, the bureau said.

Maximum temperatures mostly in the 70s both days are forecast, with overnight low readings of 46 to 58 degrees.

Maximum readings Wednesday ranged from 72 degrees at Harrison to 78 degrees at Fort the Poliburo; Wu Hsiu-Chuan and Vice Foreign Minister Liu Hsiao, both members of the Chinese party's Central Committee, and Vice Foreign Minister Chiao Kuang-hua. They were being joined in Moscow by Pan Tzu-li, China's ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Red China's allies in the Communist world also were sending top-level delegations to Moscow.

There has been a surface easing of tension between Moscow and Peking since Khrushchev's ouster. Both sides recently exchanged friendly messages and neither has engaged in the public denunciations they exchanged frequently before the Kremlin shakeup.

However, Leonid I. Brezhnev, the new Soviet party chief, and Alexei N. Kosygin, the new premier, have shown no tendency to compromise on the major issues in dispute between the Soviet and Chinese parties. The new Kremlin leadership has said repeatedly it would continue Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence with the capitalist world, seeking a further easing of world tensions.

The Chinese bitterly oppose this policy.

Overnight low readings ranged from 43 degrees at Fayetteville to 62 degrees at Memphis.

The election was sponsored by the Young Republican and Young Democrats Club on the campus. Joe Shuford of Hope and Jim Nelson of Sheridan, Club presidents, supervised the polls.

Final note: A cartoon in an Arkansas paper yesterday showed this setting: the lamp, TV, overstuffed chair, a man jumping about six feet in the air, shouting, "Hooray, It's all over!"... a newspaper lying on the floor with "Campaign" written on it... and the caption under the picture, "It's a Poor Heart That Knows No Rejoicing." Brother, "Amen."

President in

enches.

He'll still have to worry about his programs in Congress, but the Democrats are even stronger there as a result of the elections. There will now be a vice president, just in case, and the foreign field can't be pushed aside longer.

One of the first moves, probably, will be visiting foreign leaders, perhaps taking part in some kind of conference on the NATO alliance which is getting shakier, and perhaps summit talks with the Russians.

This will be the first time in this generation, at least, that the foreign leaders ever met any president like Johnson, for whom success and approval by the public are a necessary part of his daily diet.

Since he has a great sense of the spectacular he can be expected to seek some sensational early triumph that he can point to. Over the long run he will probably try to do in foreign affairs what he did with Congress and politicians. This means getting something done.

In short, in each instance he will seek some measure of success, compromising where he has to instead of insisting upon having everything his own way.

After beating Sen. Barry Goldwater in Tuesday's election Johnson said he accepts his victory as a "mandate for unity." He was talking about trying to unify the divided forces at home.

It is hardly an accident he mentioned unity. For him it means trying to bring divergent forces together. It's the way he operates.

It will not be surprising if out of his visits abroad comes some progress in problems which have been standing still. He may accomplish far more than Kennedy.

While Johnson needs constant reassurance through approval — domestically he got all one man needs in the election returns — it is natural he will raise his sights and seek international approval with his conduct of foreign affairs.

He is an expert negotiator but he still has to demonstrate how tough he is in a fierce international crisis. He has never been in one, although he may have given an insight with his action in Southeast Asia.

After American ships were fired on in the Gulf of Tonkin he approved bombing North Vietnamese bases.

One of the fascinating spectacles of the decade will be watching Johnson — if he has to deal face to face with President Charles de Gaulle — try to get the obstinate Frenchman to change his mind on anything.

It was a surprise to those receiving the flowers, so they were found in varying locations and circumstances ranging from the golf course to the breakfast table to a place of business.

Notes of appreciation were written to many in Hope who had assisted in any way with the local Girl Scout program. Those receiving yellow carnations were: Mayor Frank Douglas, C. of C. Manager, B. N. Holt, City Manager, G. G. Medders, George Frazier, member of the Conifer G. S. Council Executive Board, Claud Byrd, Charles Gough, Arch Wylie, and Dean Murphy.

Prescott P.N.A. Meets
Mrs. Hazel Underwood brought a report on the state Professional Nurses meeting at Hot Springs, when the Prescott District Professional Nurses Association met Tuesday night, November 3 at the Hempstead County Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Underwood and Mrs. Daisy Atkins had represented the Prescott District at the meeting.

"The Challenge of Change in Business" was the message brought by the principal speaker, Winthrop Rockefeller, at the convention. In matters of business at the state meeting, Sister Mary Gregory of Jonesboro was elected President, and a trophy for getting the most new members went to the El Dorado District. A new ruling was adopted whereby all nurses' licenses will bear the Seal of Arkansas and will show the nurses' original number instead of a new number each year.

The local nurses concluded their meeting after hearing the report, and coffee was served to those present.

that there ever has been so many people saying so many things alike on Election Day."

Humphrey said the Johnson landslide "means good, strong leadership for the nation" that "is good for the world." Congratulatory messages poured in to the winners from all over the globe, including a pledge from the Soviet Union's new leaders to seek accommodation by negotiation.

Although Goldwater said he doesn't believe the conservative cause was hurt by the election results, there was plenty of dissent among fellow Republicans.

Moderates of the party looked to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to provide some help for them in what could become a lengthy battle to attempt to dislodge the conservative Birch and other Goldwater supporters who filled nearly every national party office.

One of Eisenhower's chief lieutenants in any such move would be Sen. Hugh Scott, who squeaked through to re-election despite Johnson's sweep of Pennsylvania. Scott had valuable experience in this field. He saved his chairmanship of the national committee by a one-vote margin after Thomas E. Dewey lost the 1948 election.

The emergence of Romney as an outstanding GOP vote getter did not necessarily mean that the moderates would rally around him in their fight to regain control of the party. The Michigan governor, a favorite of Eisenhower, did not reveal himself as a team player when the moderates tried unsuccessfully through the candidacy of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania to halt Goldwater's nomination.

Any organized opposition that developed seemed more likely to come from among Republican governors, with Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho as one likely spearhead.

On the Democratic side, Johnson appeared to own his party lock stock and barrel.

Sino-Soviet Relations in New Phase

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW (AP) — A new phase of great importance to the rest of the world may be opening in Soviet-Chinese relations.

Moscow and Peking have quit saying nasty things to each other. Premier Chou En-lai is leading a high-powered Chinese team to Saturday's Revolution Day celebration in Moscow.

But the Kremlin remains on "the road to doom," Peking's definition of the Soviet course toward a world Communist meeting. And national interests of the two big Communist powers remain different.

There is no sign of the radical president, hardly seemed in any position after his election to the Senate in New York to raise any challenge to the President's leadership. It seemed clear that Kennedy would not have defeated GOP Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York if Johnson hadn't carried the state by a record plurality of nearly 2.5 million.

Although Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, another brother of the late president, was re-elected in Massachusetts, there was lacking the element of any significant structural challenge to Johnson when Democratic Sen. Pierre Salinger, a potential ally, went down to defeat in California.

There was a long string of members of Congress who obviously owed their victories to Johnson's massive vote-collecting ability. These included Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio, who came out on top in a battle with GOP Rep. Robert Taft Jr.

While the extent of Johnson's landslide was not open to question, there remained some question about the mandate the voters had given him. The one issue the computers couldn't be programmed to answer accurately was: How many citizens voted against Goldwater instead of for Johnson?

thinking that would be necessary for a change in the Soviet or Chinese outlook toward other countries.

There is, however, a possibility of agreement to handle Soviet-Chinese differences in a more comradely fashion than was done when Nikita Khrushchev led the Soviet Union. His ouster Oct. 14 by less excitable men created the possibility. The new Soviet leaders have indicated they intend to go ahead with Khrushchev's plans for a meeting to prepare for a world Communist conference, and then to hold the conference. But they are silent on his timetable, Dec. 15 and mid-1965.

Better relations also mean avoiding head-on collisions in the underdeveloped world.

Opposition to Romney in Assembly

By DICK BARNES. DETROIT (AP) - While talk of the 1968 presidential nomination and Republican rebuilding flutters around Michigan Gov. George Romney, he faces a home-state challenge that could make or break his national future before he even considers it.

Romney won overwhelming re-election Tuesday despite a Michigan landslide for President Johnson and found himself at the fore of GOP survivors.

He also found himself confronted with a state legislature of nearly two-thirds Democrats in each house - a jarring shift from the Republican majorities of Romney's first term.

The silver-haired former American Motors Corp. president said the Republican party must "broaden and unify." At the same time, Romney seemingly must broaden and unify his own administration program even beyond party bounds to have a chance for a successful second-term record.

He said he would work on a bipartisan basis and hoped for reciprocity. The beaten Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Neil Staeber, talked of cooperation.

The governor insisted that he has not considered seeking the 1968 nomination. He said a draft was "a very presumptuous thing to discuss."

In regard to national party rebuilding, he told a news conference Wednesday that he "can't see that I have any significant individual responsibility nationally."

"I do recognize that with others throughout the nation I can make contributions to broaden and unify the party nationally."

Practically speaking, Romney, 57, will have to decide what to do in 1966 before looking beyond. He could seek another

Pakistan Is Approaching Crucial Vote

By DAN COGGIN

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) - At a village railroad station in the rice country of East Pakistan, a slender, silver-haired woman stood in the doorway of her coach and smiled at the crowd screaming: "Long live the mother of the nation."

In a desert town 1,200 miles away in West Pakistan, a tall, ruggedly handsome man strode to the microphone and raised his hands to quiet the cheering gathered to hear him speak.

These two, both popular, are Fatima Jinnah and President Mohammed Ayub Khan, and one of them will be elected president of this nation of 100 million for the next five years.

The election, starting this month, is the first on a national scale since this Moslem nation became independent in 1947.

Miss Jinnah, wispy 71-year-old sister of Pakistan's founder, the late Mohammed Ali Jinnah, is the presidential candidate of the combined opposition; five parties ranging from far left to far right. She is about the only thing they agree on.

Ayub, 61, urbane field marshal who seized power in a bloodless coup in 1958, is running under the strong president constitution he promulgated in 1962 in ending four years of martial law.

Basic Democrats, chosen directly by the people, compose an Electoral College which will vote next March for president and members of the National and Provincial assemblies.

Actually, the election represents a contest between rival systems as well as candidates.

Miss Jinnah says Ayub's authoritarian regime amount to a dictatorship. She wants to restore the parliamentary type of government.

Ayub says restoring parliamentary government would bring back the pre-1958 days when governments fell frequently, corruption was rampant, the economy was adrift and the people sank deeper into poverty.

Ayub has restored political order in the country and made an impressive start on the awesome task of economic development. But per capita income is about $73 a year, among the lowest in the world.

Ayub is expected to defeat his opponent, mainly because of his greater strength in West Pakistan. Some experts also feel that the Basic Democrat system he initiated tends to favor the incumbent.

Absentees to Control in Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - Absentee ballots apparently hold the key to the winner of Alaska's lone seat in the U.S.

term as governor—one of four years under a new constitutional provision—or he might try for Democratic Sen. Patrick McNamara's seat.

His success with the legislature could affect this choice.

Romney said he is not ready to read Goldwater or any of the senator's aides out of the Republican organization because "you don't broaden the party by kicking people out."

Romney withheld endorsement from Goldwater during the campaign.

The Class AAA big guns go after the league's little guns in a Big 12 Conference schedule that could be tabbed a complete breather.

It won't be that way for the little guns, of course.

Our percentage landed at .740 last week when we went on an upset-predicting binge and no upsets are in sight this time.

Picking them:
El Dorado 13, Blytheville 6.
The Wildcats get to move a little against the Chicks.

Texarkana 14, Jonesboro 0.
The Razorbacks climb to 3-3.
Little Rock Central 20, North Little Rock 7. These Wildcats will go for broke here, but the Tigers can take it.

Fayetteville 14, Joplin, Mo., 6.
These Bulldogs bite.

Fort Smith Northside 14, Hot Springs 7. A month ago we would have picked it 30-0.

De Queen 14, Springdale 6.
Maybe a disservice to the Leopards.

Notre Dame Wanted for Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Notre Dame will be told by the Cotton Bowl that it would be glad to have it play the Southwest Conference champion in the Jan. 1 game — just in case the school changes its policy regarding post-season appearances.

A Cotton Bowl delegation will go to South Bend this weekend to call on Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian and other school officials.

Notre Dame has indicated it was not likely to alter its ban on post-season games unless the game could be considered a national championship affair as was the case last year when No. 1 Texas and No. 2 Navy played in the Cotton Bowl.

Other schools under consideration for the Cotton Bowl game are Nebraska, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Florida and Louisiana State.

Emmet Wins 2 Games at Bodcaw

Emmet cage teams grabbed two out of three games from Bodcaw Tuesday night in the Bodcaw gym.

Playing two overtimes, Emmet senior boys came out on the long end of a 53-51 score with Faulkner hitting for 19 and Dougan 10. Dorman scored 18 and Miller 14 for Bodcaw.

Emmet senior girls ran up a 66 to 31 tally to take Bodcaw with J. Dougan scoring 49 points and Wake 10. Peggy Butler led the losers with 18 and Joyce Daniels 13.

Bodcaw junior boys racked up an easy 52 to 17 victory with Paul Lee getting 23 and Dennis Cole 16. D. Dougan had 8 and W.C. McBride 6 for Emmet.

Rice to Test Hogs in Game on Home Grid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Injuries were at a minimum as Southwest Conference football squads worked for a weekend that will see all except one in action.

Texas was suffering the most with three players away from practice and not likely to get into the game with Baylor at Waco Saturday. However, the Longhorns had quarterback Jim Hudson, who has been out of action most of the season with a knee injury, back and ready to go.

Baylor had four defensive starters as onlookers only but they are expected to be ready to play Saturday. They were linebacker Bobby Maples, tackle Fred Allen and ends James Rust and Ramsey Muniz.

There wasn't even an ache or a pain at Southern Methodist, where the Mustangs prepared for their homecoming day game with the winless Texas Aggies. A&M was all right, too, with quarterback Dan McIlhenny, out since Oct. 27, back at practice. He may not be ready to play against SMU.

Rice, which meets Arkansas at Fayetteville in the big game of the week, had linebacker Malcolm Walker nursing a bruised knee and cut eye but he is due to play Saturday. Quarterback Walt McReynolds also was back and ready.

It wasn't injuries that worried Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas so much as his defense. He called it "lousy" and said it hadn't practiced worth a hoot this week. "It must have been because they had a good game

Louisiana Tech Heads for a Bowl

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Louisiana Tech of Ruston, La., won its seventh straight game and pushed into the lead for the Pecan Bowl. Tech replaced State College of Iowa although the latter beat South Dakota State, 23-14.

Tech, which downed Tennessee Tech 25-6 to remain undefeated and untied, headed the top 10 selected by sports writers and sportscasters over a 14-state area. The Louisianians have not allowed an opponent more than one touchdown.

The Pecan Bowl will be played here Dec. 12 for the NCAA Midwest college division championship.

State College of Iowa held the top spot in the poll for two weeks although it had a defeat on its record.

Other major changes in the rankings saw undefeated, untied Western Colorado State claim the No. 10 spot while Abilene Christian dropped its fourth game of the season to Trinity 28-7 and fell out of the top 10.

Arkansas State, the only other undefeated team on the list with a 6-0-1 record, beat Murray State 17-8 and retained the No. 3 position.

The rankings (records in parentheses):

1. Louisiana Tech (7-0)
2. State College of Iowa (7-0)
3. Arkansas State (6-0-1)
4. Lincoln University (6-1)
5. North Dakota State (7-1)

Warren Tilt Is Big One for Bobcats

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sportswriter

As all of District 4AA watches and wonders, the Bobcats journey to Warren Friday night for their crucial test.

Either Hope will come home with the district crown in the bag, or they will share the spoils of victory with Malvern and Warren.

The Cats go into their tilt with the Lumberjacks with a clean slate, 6-0. The Malvern Leopards nip at their heels with a 5-1 record, and greedily wait just outside the winner's circle. The Lumberjacks themselves have only one loss, that to Malvern. They are 4-1.

Warren is fresh from a defeat at the hands of arch rival Fordyce, by a 14-7 margin. This cannot be taken as an estimation of Warren's strength, however, because the Reddubs couldn't lose if they tried.

Two years ago Fordyce didn't cross the 50 with the ball a single time in the game, but killed Warren for two salties in a 4-3 fiasco.

The Lumberjacks depend on a seasoned, mean backfield and a terrific defense.

Featuring four seniors, the Lumberjack's offensive machine is a ground loving one. It combines the speedy McClen-don and Dolle, the halfbacks, for a breakaway threat.

Fullback McMurry is more the "three yards and a cloud of dust" ball carrier. He grinds out the tough yardage down the middle.

And their defense. The only team to score over two TD's on the Lumberjacks in the last two years is Malvern, and they racked up only three to break the longest winning streak in the state at that time.

Every team has its weak points. Well, at least almost every team. Coach Alan Howard, when asked where Warren was a little slack, charged that "they don't have any weak points. At least, if they do, we haven't been able to find them."

Coach Howard went on by stating, "This is a big game. In fact, it's probably our most important."

A big turnout of local fans is hoped for. One reason that Warren has been so successful is that their fans get behind them all the way. The size of a rooting section can mean the difference, between the winners and the "also rans."

Here are the probable starting line-ups. Although not a starter, Lang will be seeing action on defense despite his injury.

3 College Teams Draw Penalties

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The NCAA has barred Miami of Florida from participation in its annual post-season basketball tournament and slapped Michigan State and Navy with probationary sentences for recruiting violations.

The steps were taken Wednesday by the NCAA's 18-man policy-making council, which at the same time fired the first salvo in renewing the battle with the Amateur Athletic Union over the right to sanction track and field competitions.

Four member schools — Western State of Colorado also was involved — were penalized by the NCAA for "excessive financial aid and recruiting violations," but only Miami was barred from post-season activity.

The ruling, which places Miami on probation for one year and bans the school from the NCAA basketball tournament as well as other major post-season affairs cooperating with the NCAA, came about because of an incident last year.

The council said a representative of "Miami's athletic interests" gave a basketball player free room and board and paid for his air travel for several trips made in 1963.

Miami President Henry King Stanford said the violation was unintentional but the school respects the decision and will abide by it.

Michigan State was placed on probation for three years but additional sanctions were suspended because the school corrected the violations after the 1958-59 college year.

Navy received a one-year probation with no additional penalties.

Neither the Spartans nor the Middles is banned from post-season activity under the ruling. Western State was reprimanded and censured because it gave a wrestler a grant of tuition and fees after he already had a job.

Daytona University was restored to full rights and privileges after completing two years on probation for a basket-

May Save Torn Arm of Athlete

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Doctors said Wednesday they are optimistic about saving the arm of Oklahoma State University basketball player Bob Swaffar, who lost the limb in an accident Sunday night.

Swaffar's arm was rejoined in a lengthy operation after it was torn off halfway between the shoulder and elbow.

Doctors reported blood flow is good in the 20-year-old athlete.

When the Council finished handing out penalties, it turned to the AAU and signaled the end of the truce which had been arranged by the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The truce was to have lasted until the end of the Tokyo Olympic Games.

The right to sanction events has been the disputed point in the struggle between the two groups and has continued for more than three years. The AAU claims the sole right to sanction meets.

The NCAA, however, reaffirmed the position taken in a resolution adopted last January. The resolution stated:

"The member institutions of the NCAA will support only those meets and tournaments which have obtained sanctions from the established sports federations in basketball, track and field, baseball and gymnastics."

The federations are backed by the NCAA.

Coach Tough on Practice of Hog Team

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' defense "was lousy" in Wednesday's practice, coach Frank Broyles said, and he hinted that the Razorback defenders may be trying to rest on their laurels.

A good game against Texas A&M may have led to poor defensive practices Tuesday and Wednesday, Broyles said.

The Hog offense looked improved, though, Broyles said.

End Jerry Lamb, sidelined by a leg injury in the triumph over Texas, should be at full speech Saturday against the Rice University Owls, Broyles said.

Australia Is Expecting LBJ Visit

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sydney afternoon newspapers said today President Johnson probably would visit Australia next year.

The Sun reported from Canberra, the Australian capital, the visit probably would be between March and May and that the President almost certainly would bring his wife and daughters.

There was no confirmation in Canberra of this. Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies issued an invitation to Johnson when he visited Washington last June. Menzies said later the President had agreed in principle to visit Australia.

lete's arm. One of the big dangers now, they said, is the possibility of infection and blood clots.

Swaffar's arm was caught in a laundry water extractor machine in the school fieldhouse at Stillwater.

Peggy Cass Top Gal on Information

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Cass, the blonde gamestress on CBS' long-playing "To Tell the Truth" panel show, was not in top form Monday night. She missed the non-liar among the contestants three times out of three.

It is not, however, a statistic that worries her. Her longevity is based not on her guessing accuracy, but on the sparkle she injects into the panel and for the enormous fund of extraneous information she has stored away — locations of obscure Irish pubs, names of German castles and champions in obscure sports.

A lot of television viewers have forgotten that Boston-born Peggy, a serious actress, got her start as one of Jack Paar's favorite "Tonight" guests.

She would prefer that they forget that she once co-starred with a family of trained chimpanzees in a short-lived comedy series called "The Hathaways."

"I haven't been able to force myself to go to a zoo since we finished those 26 shows," she reflected humorfully.

Time, however, does heal wounds, even monkey bites. A year or so ago Peggy was still shuddering every time a new television series was suggested. Now she thinks one might be interesting if the format is right. "But with people," she added.

She believes her popularity as a panelist is "because I'm sort of like the woman next door, somebody you sort of half know and someone you wouldn't be surprised to see with her hair in rollers."

She is an omnivorous reader — books, magazines and newspapers. She watches a lot of television, is a movie and theater fan. She likes people and parties.

Reactor Is Sought for Fayetteville

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of industrial firms has asked permission to build a $12.4 million nuclear reactor near Fayetteville, Ark., the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday.

The AEC said it had received the application from the Southwest Atomic Energy Associates (SAEA)—a group of 17 private power utilities firms from the southwest and mid-west — and the General Electric Co.

The experimental reactor would not be used to produce electricity, but would be designed to demonstrate that large plutonium-uranium fueled reactors "can be built with reliable operating characteristics and inherent safety features," the applicants said.

Also, it would be designed to be representative of large "fast breeder" power reactors of the possible future; that is, reactors that would produce power and at the same time create more nuclear fuel than they consume.

It's round . . . brown . . . delicious! SESAME PRUNE BREAKFAST BREAD

Here is a bread that has winey fragrance, nut-like flavor, fruity zest. And well it may! Scattered through are toasted sesame seeds and lots of chunky little pieces of tart-sweet prunes. Over the brown top lies a glaze that holds more prunes. Cut down, you find a light tender-firm slice that welcomes butter.

This is a bread for Sunday morning breakfast . . . a handsome loaf that folks will pounce on the minute it's ready. So keep a sharp eye on it unless you're willing to have that happen. Sesame Prune Breakfast Bread is a "quick bread." Easy to mix and to bake. Do enjoy it soon.

3 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/4 cups milk or buttermilk
1/2 cup pitted or chopped prunes, chopped

1/2 cup toasted sesame seeds
1/2 cup grated sharp cheese
Glaze:
1/2 cup pitted prunes, chopped
1 cup peach preserves

Mix all ingredients except those for Glaze. Beat a few seconds until all dry ingredients disappear. (Mixture will be lumpy.) Pour batter into a greased 9" ring mold and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, 50 to 55 minutes. Or, bake in a 5-cup fancy mold for 60 to 65 minutes. Turn out and cool before glazing. To glaze: Combine 1/2 cup prunes with peach preserves. Heat until melted. Spoon over cooled loaf. Makes 1 round loaf, 12-15 slices.

* Or use your favorite preserve or jelly.

It's Bitter-Sweet Time After Election Is Over Says Philosopher Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A bitter-sweet time follows an American national political campaign.

After the votes have been in producing a given amount of power.

The proposed reactor would be known as "SEFOR," meaning "Southwest Experimental Fast Oxide Reactor."

The Southwest Atomic Energy Associates would own the reactor, and General Electric would operate it. The sodium-cooled reactor, capable of generating 20 million watts in terms of heat energy, would be on a 620-acre site approximately 20 miles southwest of Fayetteville.

SAEA would be associated in the proposed construction with Gesellschaft Fur Kernforschung, a non-profit corporation of the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany).

The AEC said the application states that the German corporation would make technical and financial contributions to the project, for itself and for the European Atomic Energy Community.

Declaring the application would be reviewed by the AEC's advisory committee on reactor safeguards and by the commission's regulatory staff, the announcement said.

"Before the commission can make a determination on the application, a public hearing must be held. The hearing would be conducted by a three-member atomic safety and licensing board."

counted, no matter what the outcome is, a mixture of gladness and sadness sweep the land.

All the winners and losers aren't necessarily those whose names were on the tickets as candidates.

Most of those who merely played the role of voters say they are pleased the quadrennial ordeal of democracy is over. They set about quietly regaining the friendships they lost in the heat of partisan argument.

After all, why lose a lifelong golfing buddy just because he was in favor of Archimedes J. Marmaduke for Congress when you thought yourself the country would fall apart if James Aloysius O'Forpatesake didn't get the job?

The truth in the sober light of reality the day after the election is that the nation still faces the same troubles it did before, and the problems it confronts loom neither larger nor smaller.

Both the winning and losing candidates are left with a feeling of wounded vanity and considerable distrust. The winner is suspicious of those who didn't jump on his bandwagon at the very start; the loser is convinced that he was sabotaged by those in whom he placed his dearest trust.

There are others to whom the decisive verdict of the ballot brings woes.

Let us consider the manufacturer of campaign buttons. What is he going to do with those thousands upon thousands of unsold emblems for Archimedes J. Marmaduke or James Aloysius O'Forpatesake?

He must go back to putting out those doleful jocular buttons that say things like "Oh, you kid" or "I'm for you baby."

The end of a major campaign also ends the eminence of the professional poll takers. Instead of chronicling hour by hour the feverish changes of the national public political pulse, they have to return to such ordinary sordid questionings as, "If your wife died, would you remarry?" and "As a teen-age high school girl, what qualities do you look for in a perfect husband?"

Almost everybody says at the conclusion of a political struggle or a war, "It was an awful bore. Thank goodness, it's over and we can get back to common sense living."

But the truth is that most of them are lying. The fact is that it is struggle that brings excitement to our lives, and nothing bores us more than periods without struggle and doubt.

Now that it is all over for the time being, who do you really think will win in 1968? How can we wait four long years to find out?

Gov. Romney Is Standout for GOP

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Successfully bucking a Democratic landslide, Michigan's Gov. George Romney emerged from Tuesday's governorship races as a Republican leader to be reckoned with in the future.

Romney, onetime auto builder, won a second term although his state went for Lyndon B. Johnson for president.

Arkansas Gov. Orval F. Faubus, Democrat, won an unprecedented sixth term, defeating Republican Winthrop Rockefeller, brother of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. The outcome of this race was in doubt for hours as Rockefeller made the best bid a Republican has made for the Arkansas governorship in many years.

Romney, 47, defeated Rep. Neil Staebler, 51, a long-time power in Democratic politics in Michigan.

The victory could well focus wide attention on Romney between now and the 1968 presidential election. He had opposed the selection of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as his party's presidential nominee.

In another race which held national attention because of future presidential possibilities, Charles H. Percy, eyed by some GOP leaders as a future national leader, lost to Democrat Gov. Otto Kerner, 56, of Illinois, who won a second term.

Among the easy winners was Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a close personal and political associate of President Johnson. Connally, 47, defeated Dallas oil man Jack Crichton, 48.

GOP National Chairman Dean Burch had predicted big party gains in statehouses.

In the first 24 races to be decided, Democrats took 17 and Republicans seven, including recapture of Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

Republicans got some revenge by defeating Democratic Gov. Albert Rosellini of Washington, who sought a third term. Rosellini, 54, lost to Daniel J. Evans, 38, a state legislator.

In the Arizona race, Richard Kleindienst, 41, a field director for Goldwater before the San Francisco convention, fell before Sam Goddard, 45, a Harvard-educated Tucson lawyer.

Rep. William P. Avery, 53, a 10-year congressional veteran from Kansas, and Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, 41, were among Republicans who successfully bucked the Johnson landslide.

Avery, who left the House to run for governor, won over Democrat Harry Wiles, 48, an attorney.

Chafee, elected in 1962 by a margin of 398 votes, won over

Miller Says Scant Funds Hurt Drive

By FRANK DOBISKY

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — William E. Miller said lack of party unity contributed to the crushing defeat he and his Republican running mate, Barry Goldwater, suffered Tuesday.

He said the refusal of many state and local Republican candidates to support the national ticket tended to "weaken the Republican position from top to bottom."

However, Miller, the GOP vice-presidential nominee, said he would make no official statement on President Johnson's landslide election victory until after word from Goldwater.

Miller said he talked by telephone with Goldwater Tuesday night, and they agreed not to comment until the GOP standard bearer had an opportunity to "analyze the vote."

An aide said Miller, a congressman who did not seek reelection to the House, would comment briefly and then fly to his home in Bethesda, Md.

He and his wife, Stephanie, were scheduled to leave Greater Buffalo International Airport at 2 p.m. aboard the chartered airliner in which they had campaigned.

Miller napped Tuesday afternoon and was sleeping at 5 p.m. when Goldwater called him the first time from Arizona. Miller was not awakened, and the two talked later in the evening.

Peanut Butter Crunchies

Seems peanut butter cookies are everyone's favorites, and here's an especially easy one to fill your cookie jar. Peanut Butter Crunchies are two ways speedy to prepare.

First of all, enriched self-rising flour with leavening and salt already blended in saves sifting and measuring steps. Next, this peanut butter cookie dough is refrigerated! You can make the dough at your convenience, then store in the refrigerator to slice and bake as needed.

Your youngsters will especially enjoy Peanut Butter Crunchies as a snack with milk and fresh fruit. You'll be happy to serve them such wholesome snacks, too. Peanut Butter Crunchies, when prepared from enriched self-rising flour, contribute the B-vitamins thiamine, niacin and riboflavin plus the minerals iron and calcium.

PEANUT BUTTER CRUNCHIES

About 54 cookies

- 2 cups sifted enriched self-rising flour

1/4 teaspoon baking soda

1/4 cup crunchy peanut butter

1/2 cup sugar

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened

1 1/2 cups hot water

Onto square of wax paper sift together flour and baking soda. In medium-sized mixing bowl combine peanut butter, sugars, butter or margarine and water until well blended and creamy. Stir flour into peanut butter mixture, blending well. Shape into two rolls, 2-inches in diameter. Wrap in wax paper; chill until firm. Set out ungreased baking sheets. Preheat oven to 400°. Unwrap cookie rolls and cut into 1/2-inch slices; place on baking sheet. Bake 8 to 10 minutes, or until lightly browned.

If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoonsful, according to USDA recommendations.

State Goes to Johnson by 50,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson, a loser in several Southern states, captured Arkansas' six electoral votes from Barry Goldwater in Tuesday's general election.

The vote count was far from complete but a Johnson trend was established early in the tabulation and it became simply a matter of collecting enough votes to give him the state.

With 1,958 of 2,664 precincts reported, Johnson had 186,709 votes, Goldwater 133,845 and John Kasper, the States Rights Party nominee, 4,291.

Kasper's poor showing means his party will lose its recognition as a political organization entitled to place candidates on the Arkansas ballot without circulating petitions. A party must get five per cent of the total vote to maintain party status.

The political oracles had Arkansas leaning toward Goldwater shortly after he became the Republican nominee and Goldwater supporters claimed they had 75 per cent of the state's vote at that time.

They admitted two weeks before the election, however, that Goldwater's support had shrunk to 55 per cent. By that time the Democratic Party organization already was saying that their man was on top.

A vigorous campaign by the state party organization probably was a factor in the Johnson victory. The organization brought out all six members of the Arkansas congressional delegation in unqualified support of the presidential nominee for the first time since the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Goldwater ran well, as expected, in areas with a concentration of Negro population where he was popular because of his views on civil rights. He also ran well in some staunchly Republican counties of North Arkansas.

But Johnson won some Delta counties, held his own in others and manhandled the senator in areas where race and Republicanism were not prime considerations.

Goldwater probably hurt his cause by failing to make a campaign trip to Arkansas. His supporters hoped until the end that he would.

The Johnson-Humphrey team hit the state three times. Sen. Hubert Humphrey made speeches at Hot Springs and Little Rock. The President appeared at Texarkana and Mrs. Johnson spoke at Fort Smith and Little Rock last week.

The best speakers the Republicans could get for their candidate were Sens. John Tower of Texas and J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Neither of the gubernatorial candidates was much help to his party's presidential nominee. Republican Winthrop Rockefeller endorsed Goldwater and appeared with him at Memphis, but their campaign organizations largely went separate ways.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus endorsed the Johnson-Humphrey ticket, but he said he did so only out of party loyalty and he did not campaign for it. He did appear with Johnson at Texarkana and Mrs. Faubus acted as hostess for Mrs. Johnson while she was in the state.

"DEAR ABBY"

TALE'S END!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: We were high school sweethearts, but he went away to college and then married an out-of-town girl. In the meantime, I married someone else, too. After many dull years, I filed for divorce. I had no children, thank heavens. Fate brought him back to visit his parents this summer, and it was just like old times. He is more handsome than ever. He had his two teen-aged sons with him and I loved them immediately. There was nothing out of the way—just clean, good fun. Besides, we were with our parents most of the time. He told me he wasn't happy with his wife, but will not divorce her because of the boys. When they went home, the boys started to correspond with me, but their mother put a stop to it. How narrowminded can you get? Don't you think children have a right to choose their own friends? How can I set her straight?

Home Town Sweetheart
Dear Sweetheart: You can't "set her straight" so don't try. She considers you a threat, with good reason. This is not simply a matter of children "choosing their own friends." If you "love" the boys, and it was actually all "just clean, good fun," write finis to the chapter and close the book.

Dear Abby: I have a weak muscle (or nerve) in one eye, and it makes me look cross-eyed. A local eye doctor said it was too slight to correct surgically for cosmetic reasons, but it is driving me out of my mind, Ab-

Taft and Romney New GOP 'Big'

By JOHN BARBOUR
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of Sen. Barry Goldwater's stunning defeat, the battered ranks of Republicans yielded a new set of heroes today.

One could be the GOP standard bearer for 1968. In Michigan, Gov. George Romney bucked the Democratic tide to win another term. He had accepted his party's choice of Goldwater, but withheld endorsement.

In Ohio, Robert Taft Jr. apparently overcame venerable Democrat Stephen M. Young and President Johnson's avalanche to win Young's Senate seat. In the campaign, Taft mildly endorsed Goldwater, managed to avoid personal identification with the Republican standard bearer.

In California, former Hollywood movie star George Murphy stepped lightly over former presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger to win a U.S. Senate seat. Murphy backed Goldwater but reserved the right to differ with him on such issues as civil rights, and once refused to be photographed with Goldwater.

By contrast, the Republican fallen included some notable Goldwater supporters.

In Illinois, Charles H. Percy, a young Eisenhower Republican and considered a shining light in the party, failed in a bid for the governorship against incumbent Democrat Otto Kerner. Percy said he had made 85 speeches for Goldwater's candidacy.

Even in Goldwater's home state, Arizona, Republican Richard Kleindienst, strong Goldwater supporter and friend, failed in his bid for the governorship, beaten by Democrat Sam Goddard.

In Maryland, incumbent Sen. J. Glenn Beall had put off Goldwater endorsement — but late in the campaign, on a Goldwater visit to Maryland, the Arizonan warmly endorsed Beall, and Beall reciprocated. Beall lost his Senate seat to the bid of Joseph Tydings.

Even Republicans lukewarm to Goldwater or opposed to him had to face the anti-Goldwater, pro-Johnson tide.

In New York, veteran Sen. Kenneth B. Keating who refused to support Goldwater, failed before the challenge of Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late president.

In Pennsylvania, Republican stalwart Hugh Scott, a reluctant supporter of his party's ticket who proclaimed "I'm my own man," won a close re-election to the Senate. In Hawaii, Republican Sen. Hiram Fong kept Goldwater out of his campaign and won re-election.

The inventory of fallen Republicans grew longer in the congressional side. On the opposite side of the ledger, in the Deep South where Goldwater won his only major victories, his name worked a kind of magic that made political history.

In Alabama, five Democrats fell to Republican challengers for seats in Congress. In eastern Georgia, another Democrat fell. There was still another Democratic upset — in Mississippi. In all but the Mississippi victory, the Republicans were strongly announced for Goldwater.

HIM, something must be wrong. How can I get the truth?

NEEDS TO KNOW

Dear Needs: Ask a few people on whom you can rely to tell you the truth. Then go to another doctor and ask him. Even though the eye is only slightly off, if it bothers you excessively, perhaps surgery should be performed for your peace of mind, which is every bit as important as for cosmetic reasons.

Dear Abby: What do you think of a man who will eat the outside of a cake and the inside of a pie; and leave the less desirable parts for his family?

JUST WONDERING
Dear Just: I think he is a gluttonous galoot. And if he's yours, you have my sympathy.

Confidential To Edna: "It takes an enemy and a friend, working together to hurt you to the heart. The one to slander you, and the other to get the news to you." — Mark Twain

Lew lifted himself and skirted toward Shepard. His last long step brought his foot down hard across the wrist of Shepard's extended arm. He pulled the gun from Shepard's fingers and straightened.

Together Craig and Lew rolled Shepard onto his back. Shepard was half-conscious, breathing in a series of gasps. The bullet had struck him a few inches above the left kneecap, squarely in the center. The wound was bleeding only slightly. Lew put his hand over it and squeezed gently.

"Bone's broken, probably splintered. He won't be going anywhere."

"Becker didn't try to follow him."

Craig went around the building, holding the rifle ready. Ches Becker was laying on his side on the ground, his head resting on one arm as he peacefully asleep. Craig brought his flashlight out of his pocket and knelt beside him. After a minute he went back to Lew.

"Shepard was poking the gun into him, high in the belly. Bullet must have hit his spine. He is dead."

"That makes two this one will answer for — kidnapping and murder." The harshness was back in Lew's voice. "Must be a piece of cloth somewhere around here. We'd better bind up that hole in his leg so he won't bleed too much. Wouldn't want him to miss his date with the chair."

A sick dizziness had taken hold of Craig. He shook his head to clear it and looked back at the boat.

"Do that, Lew. We'll tie his hands to be on the safe side and put him inside the truck. He probably has a set of keys in his pocket, one of them for that padlock on the door below."

"Sandor's there? I didn't have a chance—"

"He's there, doped up but apparently all right."

"What about the police? They can't be kept out now. But we can't let them know I'm mixed up in this."

"They won't need to know that. We'd better hold off on them anyway until Sandor has some understanding of what's happened. This thing still isn't finished."

Handling Hugo Sandor turned out to be easier than Craig had expected. Sandor's drug-induced stupor had already begun to wear off and he was fighting the lingering effects. When Craig and Lew had released him, they put him in a chair on deck. He forced himself to sit erect, to keep his head up. In the gally Craig found an aluminum pot half full of strong coffee; he heated it and Sandor drank it, cup after cup. Craig well knew Sandor's indomitable willpower, but he was amazed at the man's unflagging persistence in exercising it now.

Sandor co-operated with dogged determination when they helped him off the boat. They began walking him back and forth across the lot. When his control of his legs and grown steadier, he began to mumble questions. At first, it was difficult for him to understand, but as he gained physical co-ordination, his mind cleared.

"You raised... raised the money?"

"Most of it. We fell short by 70 thousand."

"Short?" It bewildered Sandor. He came to a troubled pause, thinking about it, then trudged on. "I do not understand this... this shortage."

"We all tried our best, but we simply couldn't raise the full amount."

"You all?" Sandor asked more questions.

Craig's answers brought Sandor to a stiff standstill. The shock of it rocked him for a moment; then it affected him like a strong stimulant. He seemed suddenly to gain new strength of self-command. He pulled his arms loose from Craig's and Lew's hands and stood straight.

"Who did this to me?"

"We still don't know."

"Take me home, Dick. Now!"

Craig had already brought his car into the parking lot. He led Sandor to it. Sandor walked unaided and put himself into the passenger seat. Lew said quietly, "I'll walk to mine and follow you," and Craig nodded. Under the dome light Craig saw that the black growth of beard on Sandor's face was wet with cold sweat, and his hands were trembling.

Sandor sat silent while Craig drove. Lew followed in his car. When they reached the Sandor home, Craig did not turn into the driveway; he stopped short of it, and Lew stopped behind him.

"Velma's there, Hugo. She's been under such a strain, I think it would be better to prepare her for this. I'll go in first and—"

Union Chiefs Challenged for Power

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the nation's top labor leaders have been getting kicked around in a series of internal union rows enlivening the labor scene recently.

Electrical Workers President James B. Carey and United Mine Workers chief W.A. Boyle are being challenged for their jobs after conventions marked by shouting, shoving and fist-swinging.

United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald and Textile Workers head William Pollock apparently have squelched their opposition for the present.

The Building Service Employees International Union shows the scars of a bitter power struggle between President David Sullivan and former President William L. McFetridge over a union-financed apartment development in Chicago.

Some observers add United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther to the list, contending that internal opposition led to the General Motors strike against Reuther's wishes.

Do these internal squabbles indicate widespread rank-and-file unrest in the labor movement?

"All it proves," says one national labor spokesman, "is that unions are democratic institutions."

Officials of the individual unions involved in the various disputes soft-pedal them as of little consequence.

But other close observers of labor affairs read into them some signs of rank-and-file restiveness at a time when membership is generally stable or declining, unemployment is high and workers are worried about losing their jobs to automation.

There is also the political element of second-echelon union officials who long have been in the shadow of a more dominant figure, wondering if their chance at the top spot will ever come.

The emergence of this second generation of labor leaders as the giants of labor fade from the scene undoubtedly will stir more internal power battles.

Although Boyle's opponent Steve Kochis, is given little chance of wresting the presidency from him, the miners are a case in point.

Boyle still is having trouble emerging from the long shadow cast by John L. Lewis, now retired but still active at the age of 84.

Boyle succeeded to the presidency when Thomas Kennedy died in 1961 and faces his first election in the referendum against Kochis in December.

A recent Miami Beach, Fla., convention of the union resulted in Boyle's challenge by Kochis — a Pennsylvania local leader. A brawl over the microphones broke out at one point, but union spokesmen said this resulted from a misunderstanding that had no connection with the Kochis-Boyle contest.

Miner spokesmen figure Kochis to get only about 10 percent of the approximately 250,000 votes.

Carey, who has headed the International Union of Electrical Workers since it was founded in 1949, appears to face more serious opposition.

His opponent, Paul Jennings, union executive board member, is threatening to go to court to guard against what he calls the possibility of an unfair election count in the November referendum among more than 200,000 union members.

Jennings' charges of dictatorship against Carey led to a raucous union convention in Washington recently in which Carey and Jennings factions shouted, threatened and scuffled for two days.

Although a reported revolt against McDonald failed at a recent convention in Atlantic City, N.J., he still is the target of criticism leveled by Joseph W. Murray, adopted son of the union's founder, Philip Murray.

Pollock apparently has retained firm control of the Textile Workers Union, but the size of his opposition before it was crushed indicated some deep disenchantment with his leadership.

No less than a dozen textile vice presidents were swept from office or resigned when Pollock was re-elected at a union convention last June in New York.

The Building Service Employees Union finally sold its interest in Marina City, a Chicago Loop real estate project, after a bitter internal dispute over its control.

McFetridge quit as a union adviser to become full-time president of Marina City after the dispute boiled over at the union's convention in Los Angeles last May.

Reuther had to put down some picketing at unauthorized locations in the strike of 260,000 auto workers at General Motors. He also had to contend with some brief wildcat strikes at three Ford plants in Cleveland, Ohio.

Although his associates say the strike situation contained no elements of opposition to Reuther, some outside observers see a potential challenge to Reuther from younger men who handle the union's day-to-day affairs. But there was no opposition when Reuther was elected several months ago to a new two-year term.

Big 3 Auto Profits Hit New Record

DETROIT (AP) — Boom year 1964 of the nation's auto industry now boasts record nine-month earnings from each of its "Big Three."

General Motors, biggest of the trio, made its complete Monday by reporting a $1.36-billion profit and announcing a $569-million dividend payment.

The GM dividend, a $2-a-share payment to 1.15 million common stockholders, will help to swell the pre-Christmas flow of money. The $2 is $1.35 above the usual GM quarterly payment.

Earlier, both Ford and Chrysler had reported record nine-month earnings.

General Motors made its profit report as the giant auto-maker was getting up headway again in production following a crippling United Auto Workers Union strike.

For the first time since the strike began Sept. 25, all five of GM's passenger car divisions were turning out cars Monday, the company said.

The UAW called off its national strike Oct. 5, following agreement on a national contract, but strikes over local disputes among the company's 130 plants continued to cripple production.

As of today, only 12 local settlements were outstanding. GM makes the Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Chevrolet and Buick cars.

Ford, which faces a Friday strike threat by the UAW, had yet to complete 20 agreements among 90 bargaining units. Ford and the UAW have settled nationally.

General Motors' nine-month profit of $1.36 billion, from record sales, was the equivalent of $4.75 a share, up 25 per cent from the $1.086 billion, or $2.97 a share, of the same period last year.

The $2 dividend will be payable Dec. 10 to stockholders of record Nov. 12. GM's dividends for the year so far total $1.26 billion.

Sales for the first nine months this year rose 13 per cent to $13.16 billion as against $11.68 billion last year.

British to Nationalize Steel Mills

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II told Parliament today that Prime Minister Harold Wilson's new Labor government will renationalize Britain's steel industry, restore rent controls and open the way for the abolition of capital punishment.

The queen delivered her first speech from the throne written for her by Wilson and his Cabinet. The speech outlined the government's legislative program.

In international affairs the queen promised the government's support of the United Nations and the North Atlantic alliance and other collective defense organizations to which Britain belongs. She said the government would attempt to reduce East-West tensions and "to encourage further progress toward disarmament."

The queen delivered her speech from the throne in the House of Lords after driving through London in a coach accompanied by a glittering cavalry escort.

Members of the House of Commons, summoned with great ceremony, stood around the edges of the chamber as the queen spoke.

In a key passage she said:

"My government will initiate early action to re-establish the necessary public ownership of the iron and steel industry."

This policy is expected to touch off a major parliamentary battle.

Wilson's government has only a five-vote majority in Commons. Sir Alec Douglas-Home's Conservatives and the small Liberal party oppose nationalization of the steel industry.

Clement Attlee's Labor government took the steel industry under state control in 1951 after nationalizing the coal, gas and electric power industries, the railways, the airlines and the Bank of England.

Other nationalization measures of the Attlee regime continue in force, but the steel industry went back into private hands after the Conservative party won the 1951 election.

The queen said the Wilson government will "restore control of rents" and added, "They will establish as rapidly as possible a crown lands commission with wide powers to acquire land for the community."

This measure, Labor ministers have said, is designed to check land speculation and to put land to the best use. A parliamentary fight is expected on that also.

Tapestry Is Rotary Link With China

The Hope Rotary Club is participating with the Rotary Club of Taipei Northwest in Taiwan, China, Formosa, in a Gift Exchange Program, designed to increase understanding and promote world-wide goodwill among Rotarians. The Taipei Club is tying this program in with a fund raising program to help finance some of their community projects.

The Chinese Tapestry, "Children Playing in The Garden," shown in the picture, has been received by the Hope Rotary Club and according to President George Peck, will be sold at auction at a club meeting within a few days. Money received from the sale of this Tapestry will be used to send the Taipei Club some items from Hope that they will use at a Rotary Club Bazaar. This Bazaar will be held on March 24th, 1965 during the Week for International Understanding. After a showing at their Bazaar all items so received from many places throughout the world will be auctioned to Rotarians in their own club and those from surrounding areas.

"Needless to say, the Hope Club is happy to participate in this type of program that tends to foster goodwill among men of all nations," said President Peck.

The Tapestry will be on display at the Chamber of Commerce office for the next few days for all those who would like to see it.

Paul Klipsch brought the program last Friday, showing some very interesting color slides of his most recent visit to Indian Country in New Mexico. Guests at last week's meeting were,

Communist Unity Meet to Be Held

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin's new leaders are going ahead with Nikita Khrushchev's plan for an international Communist meeting next month, but instead of setting the stage for a showdown with Red China the emphasis apparently will be on unity.

There have been hints Red China might send representatives to try to find out if there have been any Soviet policy changes since Khrushchev's ouster.

Peking had said it would boycott the meeting Khrushchev had called to lay the groundwork for a conference of the world's 90 Communist parties.

A Danish Communist leader who returned home from Moscow Monday told newsmen in Copenhagen Soviet leaders intend to stand firm toward Peking but would try to get back on "speaking terms" with the Chinese.

The Kremlin decision to hold the December meeting was disclosed in a communique after talks with Austrian Communist leaders. It said the discussion "emphasized the necessity of attaining solidarity of the ranks of the international Communist movement and continuing preparations for a new conference of Communist and workers parties and the meeting of the Editorial Commission."

Khrushchev had called for a meeting Dec. 15 of Editorial Commission members — representatives of 26 parties who framed the 1960 Moscow blueprint for world Communist strategy.

There had been predictions the December meeting might be postponed until the Soviet-Chinese dispute had a chance to simmer down.

The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda came out Saturday with a declaration supporting Khrushchev's position in the feud with Peking. For the first time since his ouster, the paper denounced "chauvinism" and "petty bourgeois adventurism... opportunism and dogmatic or revisionist distortion of theory." All were charges made against Peking at the height of the dispute.

In his trip into outer space, Major Gagarin, Russian cosmonaut, attained a speed of about 18,000 miles per hour.

The staging of Expo 67, Canada's 1967 Exhibition in Montreal will involve an expenditure of more than $800 million.

Pottery Head Is Man of Many Trades

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Philip Rosenthal is an unusual businessman.

He is a veteran of the French Foreign Legion, climbs mountains, runs two miles a day to keep fit and flies his own plane.

And he has unorthodox ideas about marketing the china, glass and silverware produced by his German factories.

Rosenthal's family have been potters for four generations.

Rosenthal recently visited the United States to expand outlets for his products.

His father ran away from Germany to the United States and worked as a Texas cowboy. After working later as a buyer of chinaware in a Detroit store, he returned to Germany with American ideas of marketing and founded the Rosenthal Co. with one employee at Selb, Bavaria.

The younger Rosenthal was graduated from Oxford University. He worked as a coal miner, swineherd and journalist. When, on the first day of the war, the Germans marched into Czechoslovakia, he gave up his German citizenship and joined the Foreign Legion. After the fall of France, he was active in the resistance and made his way to England.

After the war he joined his father's company and, after 10 years, became head of it.

He says he took aim at china fabricators who design for the mass market with "slavish imitations or traditional shapes" or who "create white china with a shape so functional that the expert can hardly tell the difference between factories with the result that china becomes a technical utility comparable to a bath or a refrigerator."

Rosenthal's gross sales in 1963 in 80 countries represented the output of eight dinnerware, two glassware and eight technical factories throughout the world employing more than 9,000 persons and amounting to $40.5 million.

He has assembled an international design team.

"After we started to make good things with good designs," Rosenthal says, "I realized that good things stood a poor chance if displayed in the midst of a plethora of inferior articles, including many of our own products. The good design was submerged in a mass of mediocrity."

Out of this came his idea for studio houses, standing alone, and studio departments, located in stores, offering only the Rosenthal Studio line for sale.

Diesel trucks first were used in about 1933.

China Hints Deal With Russia Near

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Red China called attention today to the views of a leading foreign Communist who raised the possibility that Nikita Khrushchev's fall could result in a new rapprochement between China and the Soviet Union. He said "many difficulties and obstacles" must still be overcome, however.

Peking newspapers quoted D. N. Aidit, head of Indonesia's big Communist party, that Khrushchev's departure was "a good thing for the Soviet Communist party, for the international Communist movement and also for the emerging forces because a cleavage within the international Communist movement may affect these forces."

The official New China News Agency said the new Soviet rulers had expressed hope for "solidarity" between the Soviets and the Chinese.

Indonesia's Communist party, the third largest in the world, has supported the hard-line policies of the Red Chinese.

Indian Information Minister Indira Gandhi, returning to New Delhi after a visit to Moscow, said the Soviet Union's new leadership told her they would try to "smoothen the sharp

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — As presidential elections go, the Johnson landslide was hardly a television cliff-hanger. Even without the networks' computer projections, the trend would have been evident very early Tuesday night.

All three networks were fed the returns with amazing speed by the Network Election Service, the joint project by The Associated Press, United Press International, and the three major networks. Each was thoroughly organized to handle them and each provided easy-to-follow running reports, verbal and visual.

From reports on the first scattered returns through the accurate predictions of winners to the final statements of victors edges of their quarrel with Communist China but admitted a complete rapprochement will not be easy.

Mrs. Gandhi told a news conference on her return home that the new Soviet leaders desire to "end polemics and personal abuse" with Peking because "they felt any tension in any sphere is harmful to a country."

But the "type of rivalry" that has arisen between the Soviet Union and Communist China would not permit of "any big rapprochement," she said.

ry and concession, fine, workmanlike jobs were turned in by each network news staff.

Choosing a station boiled down to one's choice of commentators.

ABC, which beefed up its election-night staff with guest experts, including Clare Boothe Luce and Arthur Schlesinger Jr., cut them off frequently in mid-sentence to catch up with a news bulletin.

The analyses of network staff experts — particularly CBS' Eric Sevareid and ABC's Howard K. Smith — were shorter and sharper.

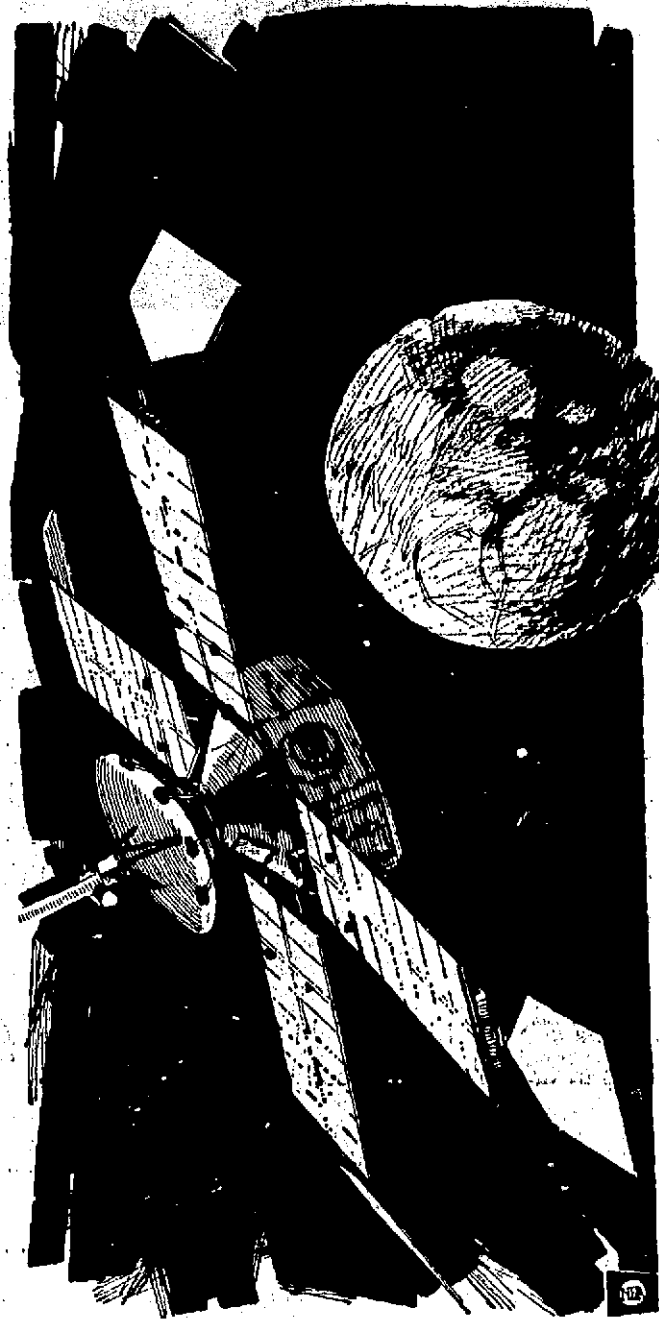

With all networks receiving the vote totals simultaneously, the big competition was in use of the computer projections. Even so, all three seemed to be handling these very carefully.

CBS nicknamed its computer "VPA" for "Vote Profile Analysis" and its staff invariably used the phrase "indicated winner." NBC with "EVA" for "Electronic Vote Analysis" always used the phrase "projected winner." And ABC, just calling it "our computer," spoke of "awarding" victory.

NBC's research department estimated that at the peak hours, some 70 million were watching election returns.

The polls had indicated a great Democratic victory, but television, by bringing the climax and the winners into our homes, made us all participants. It was an exciting evening.

Mars Mission Is Space Duet

Within the 36 days starting Nov. 4, U.S. and Soviet spacecraft may be racing toward Mars. From Cape Kennedy, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will launch a spacecraft mission toward Mars and, if they follow past performances, the Russians will aim probes at Mars within the same period. For several years, the USSR has never passed up a chance to shoot probes at Venus or Mars. In 13 tries, they came close once. Some U.S. experts expect Russia to try to put a probe into orbit around Mars. At present, the U.S. cannot try this. By 1969 or 1971, the U.S. hopes to be able to launch the three-to-four-ton Voyager, which would land life-detecting robots on Mars, while remaining in orbit around the red planet, relaying information and photos.

Mars shot involves two identical 575-pound spacecraft—Mariners C and D—launched atop Atlas-Agena D vehicles. Goal is scientific data and measurements between the orbits of Mars and Earth. Each Mariner is set up to transmit 22 TV photos back to Earth. Neither can prove that life exists on Mars, but they may provide clues.

The unprecedented Mariner mission is the most difficult one yet in the U.S. unmanned space program. Flight distance to Mars is some 350 million miles compared to 180 million miles for the 1962 Mariner II flight past Venus. Mars flight time is 8½ months, compared to 3½ months of the Venus mission. If all goes well, the Mariners will come within 8,600 miles of the Martian surface. Because of differences in orbits and speeds, a fly-by mission to Mars is possible only once in 25 months. The two Mariners are expected to arrive at Mars about two to four days apart in mid-July of 1965.

Native Pine Best Timber Producer

Results of pine species evaluation tests established in 1955 by the University of Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station indicate that slash and longleaf pine are not suitable for commercial production in Arkansas. F. M. Meade, forester with the Experiment Station, told those attending the Forestry Study Day held Friday (Oct. 23) at the Southwest Branch Station that loblolly and shortleaf pine, both native species, did much better in the tests.

In the tests, four plots of 0.1 acre were established for each species. The trees were then measured for average survival, diameter, height and basal area. All trees were planted at a 6'x 6' spacing.

Survival was quite low in the longleaf and slash pine plots, said Meade. Many of the tops of trees in these plots were broken, resulting in deformed trees. Because of the poor survival the density, as determined by basal area, is low.

Visitors were also shown plots where loblolly pine seed sources from four locations are being tested for production under Arkansas conditions. The seed sources represented in this test are West Arkansas, Crossett, Arkansas, Louisiana and East Texas. The seedlings were planted at a 6'x 6' spacing in four replicated plots of 0.1 acre each.

Seedlings from the Texas source did not survive as well as those from other locations but growth of the individual trees within the plots was comparable, pointed out Meade. Basal area of the Texas source was low because of the poor survival.

The visitors also saw some of the research work on small woodland management, Scotch pine source evaluation, pine tip moth control, and hardwood plantations.

Churches to Keep Eye on Spa Gambling

By J. C. TILLMAN

Associated Press Writer ARKADDELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Churches' United Against Gambling will remain intact as a "watchdog organization" to see that illegal gambling does not flourish in the state, Dr. Ralph Phelps, president, said today.

Phelps made the comment in issuing a statement on the defeat of proposed constitutional Amendment 55, which would have legalized casino gambling in Garland County.

Phelps said the executive committee of CUAG will meet at Little Rock Nov. 23, but he did not know the agenda of business.

"If there are any indications that illegal gambling is trying to open in the state," he said, "we will try to close it down."

"Our faith in the people of Arkansas and in the state's future has been vindicated by this vote," he said of the defeat of Amendment 55.

His statement said: "We are grateful, first, to the thousands of churchmen laymen and ministers alike, and others who have worked tirelessly and unselfishly in behalf of a cause they believed to be morally right and socially best for their state."

"Most were political amateurs, but what they lacked in political know-how they made up for in dedication to their cause."

"Second, we want to express appreciation for those newspapers in the state which helped to bring into clear focus the real issues in this election. American journalism has never known a finer hour than during this campaign, when, with a few notable exceptions, the newspapers turned the spotlight of truth into dark corners with which most Arkansans have little prior knowledge before this attempt to legalize casino gambling."

"Ever since they disagreed on the outcome of the election, there's been a certain coolness between them!"
